

AHMED ODEH

AHMED ODEH

PRESIDENT, INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Master's Degree in Engineering

George Washington University

Master of Business Administration

George Mason University

Working toward Advanced Degree in Business Analytics

Harvard Business School, 2022

Ahmed is notably successful at establishing and sustaining effective communications and rapport with clients. He is exceptionally well organized, and detail-oriented. He is very efficient and effective with resource management so as to achieve the greatest outcome with the least expenditure of financial and human capital.

His 24 plus years of experience provided him with a solid base knowledge and broad understanding of industry operations and practices. Ahmed is quite competent at, and keenly aware of the importance of completing programs safely, on time, within budget, and to the client's total satisfaction. He is accustomed to working under extreme pressure while simultaneously directing multiple projects

His higher education and over 24 years of professional experience has allowed him to work on various national and international projects in which he has significantly improved operational effectiveness and productivity, thereby reducing operations and inventory costs for various clients. Ahmed is working on completing his business analytics program with the Harvard Business School in the upcoming few years while continuing to work full-time.